

People Service Quality

... this we avouch with our name

People

Good customer relations have a high significance at the menges group. A support from person to person, personal and distinct, forms the centre of our actions. The base for good relations – whether to customers, suppliers or colleagues – is always established by mutual appreciation of personality and competence. Staff motivation through goals and responsibility is the best premise for a qualified consultation and a committed service. This is the only way to develop and grow profitable partnerships. We, the Menges family, avouch this with our name, in every relation.

Service

As a distributor for electrical parts, it is our duty to deliver the parts you need timely and for fair prices. Innovative product lines and efficient partners form the portfolio of the menges group. A clever purchasing management guarantees flexibility, best quality and the greatest possible product variety. Due to our full-service, we are able to deliver a multitude of products from one source. Thereby we are able to help you minimize your costs and stay competitive at the same time.

„Our personal dedication applies to the satisfaction of our clients. A good connection to our customers is very important to us“

About us - menges electronic

The menges electronic gmbh was founded in Dortmund in April 1990 by Mrs. Ingrid Menges and Mr. Erich Menges. After several relocations, due to constant growth, the head office was relocated to Dortmund-Huckarde in 2001, where about 1.000 square metres for offices and a storage area are available. The menges electronic gmbh is a distributor for active, passive and electromechanical parts.
